

Video Medical Visits

Kaiser Permanente On-the-Job® and Republic Indemnity are working together to bring video visits to your employees.

Did you know

- When your employees get injured on the job, they have the option of getting follow-up care with Kaiser Permanente On-the-Job (KPOJ) via video visit*.
- Video visits for injury care follow-up appointments are available for all your employees, regardless of insurance coverage. (Kaiser Permanente members and non-Kaiser Permanente members are eligible.)
- Kaiser Permanente members will have the follow-up video visit with their Primary Treating Physicians (PTP), who have electronic access to their medical records (HealthConnect). Non-Kaiser Permanente members, who initially visit a KPOJ facility, will be set up with a medical record in the system. The PTP who sees the member or non-member at the initial visit will remain the PTP for the entire span of the claim.

Expectation for video visits

Employees may step away to a quiet, private location, a conference room, office, or car for the video visit.

The provider will schedule a follow-up visit for the patient during the initial visit.*

Benefits of Video Visits

Convenience: Your employees can access video from their desktop, laptop, or mobile device, during or after hours, without taking time away from work, eliminating travel time to a KPOJ clinic.

Support: There is a robust team of office staff, nurses, and doctors to support your employees in scheduling and conducting video visits.

Increased Productivity: Your employees stay at work for the video visit, decreasing absenteeism.

Positive Financial Impact: Reduces the need to pay mileage for injured employees driving to appointments.
